

AN INITIATIVE OF TALENT OUTREACH PROJECT

CAREER FAIR 21 Nov 2007

Graced by the Principal Designate, Mr. Tan Hang Cheong, the Singapore Polytechnic (SP) Career Fair was launched on 21st November at the SP convention centre.

The main objective of the SP Career Fair is to present to young graduates the early career-planning guide while giving them an exposure to the various options available at the educational institutions. Many of the students returned to the campus especially for this event as they were delighted by the permanent employment opportunities and other benefits that general insurance industry can offer.

This on-campus career fair was supported by 20 organizations and 7 educational institutions. They offered a wide range of career opportunities and educational plans for alumni and students who are graduating soon.

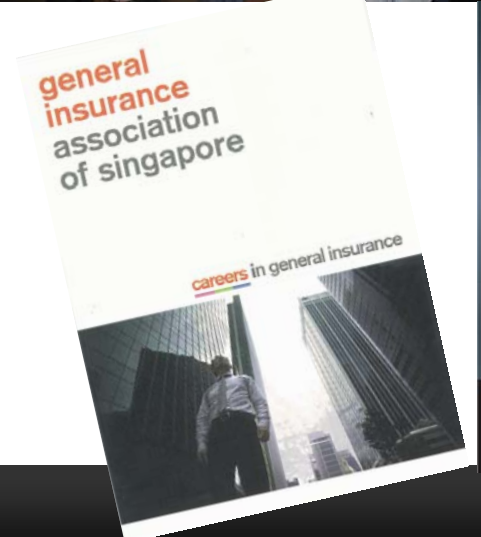

GIA supported and participated in this event to promote the general insurance industry and encourage students to explore career opportunities in this area. The general insurance industry provides a myriad of opportunities and challenges for students who yearn for a career that takes them beyond their country.

During the fair, 16 undergraduates have submitted their resume. It is an opportunity for GIA to convince these young potential talents of the industry's attractiveness and positive experiences they can gain from it.

For more information on future career fairs activities held by GIA, please contact Rosaline.chan@gia.org.sg or visit the GIA website at www.gia.org.sg

Snap Shots of SP Career Fair

21 November 2007

general insurance association of singapore managing risks, securing businesses

general insurance
managing risks, securing businesses